SUNDAY-SCHOOL INTERESTS

The Convention of Workers Closes with Much to Encourage Future Efforts.

Election of Officers and a Resolution to Have Teaching of Temperance Part of the Regular Course-Lecture on Oriental Customs.

Yesterday's session of the Indiana Sunday-school convention was largely devoted to business. The committee on revision of the constitution reported, and the suggestions made were adopted. The Primary Sunday-school Union reported through its officers that it was fully organized, with Mrs. J. E. Gilbert as president, Mrs. Addie Brown, secretary, and Miss Bettie Wishard, treasurer. Rev. E. C. Evans and Dr. J. E Gilbert, of Indianapolis; Professor and Mrs. D. W. Dennis, of Richmond, and Rev. Dr. A. S. Huston, of Pendleton, were chosen to represent Indiana at the world's convention of Sunday-school workers, to be held at London this summer. The report of the comittee on nominations was adopted, the following officers being selected for the en-

Parmenter, Wabash; Mat-thew Sterling, Delphi; B. F. Ferguson, Rens-selaer; T. H. Ball, Crown Point; Miss Ollie V. Horn, Silver Lake; Wm. M. Ball, Ligonier.

The appointment of the State superintendent, secretary and statistician were left to the executive committee. The recommendations of the committee on resolutions | with Pogue was never consummated. were adopted. Chief among these is that the Sunday-school Union unite with the Normal Institute Organization which Dr. Gilbert has established, so as to make each helpful to the other. Dr. Gilbert was thanked for his clear-headed perception of the needs in this direction, and for his wisdom, intelligence and energy in preparing the means for its accomplishment. The committee also recognizes with pleasure the institute work, of which he is the author. The work of Rev. W. M. Bell, of Ligonier, as secretary, was appropriately acknowledged, as was also that of Prof. W. A. Ogden, who led the musical exercises of the convention. The temperance committee reported in favor of asking the International Sunday-school Lesson committee to set the quarterly temperance lesson on some other day than that of the regular quarterly review. This is asked in order that the temperance lesson may receive more attention. It was also the opinion of the committee that temperance the opinion of the committee that temperance should be given especial attention, and be expressly taught in every Sunday-school. The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Dr. S. A. Keen, of Roberts Park M. E. Church: Rev. W. T. Stott, D. D., of Franklin College, read a paper on "How to Conduct Young People's Classes." This was one of the best papers that has been presented to the convention, being earnest, practical and instructive. An excellent paper was presented by Mrs. Edwin Hildebrand, of Indianapolis, its title being "How to Graduate Young Men of the Sunday-school into the Church."

At the opening of the afternoon session the opinion of the committee that temper-

At the opening of the afternoon session Dr. A. S. Huston, of Pendleton, gave "The Adult Class" as a sample lesson. This was a feature of the convention. Those who heard the lesson were not surprised to learn that he has one of the largest and best Bible classes in the State. The next number enabled Dr. Gilbert to give a lesson showing what is required of the Sunday-school superintendent. The spirit of this exercise, which was mostly expressed on the blackboard, was entered into by every one, the numerous angrestions, given being inblackboard, was entered into by every one, the numerous suggestions given being incorporated into and made a part of the lesson. The Doctor had a great many questions propounded, some of them not easy to answer. Among them was an inquiry—"Doctor would you advise a superintendent to teach a class?" Said the Doctor, decidedly, "No, never." Then, after a pause for consideration, "I should say hardly ever." The ha, ha that tollowed showed that the once popular "Pinafore" is not yet forgotten. The Doctor gave advice as to how to keep the children interested in a school, and how to encourage constant attendance. "If you keep this up for a year," he said, in conclusion, "I will put a tally-sheet in every Sunday-school in this city to get the statement of attendance, and it won't be tampered with at our court-house over there, either." Telegrams of greeting were received from State Sunday-school conventions now in session in Ohio and

"Oriental Customs and Manners." He is a native of Jerusalem, and was clad as a Mohammedan. With him, seated upon the stage, were two young ladies, two gentlemen and two boys, also dressed in the costumes of Syria, who had volunteered to aid him in illustrating his subject. He explained many passages in the New and in the Old Scriptures not clear to people of the occident, by showing that many of the customs alluded to by Jesus Christ and by David, Solomon and the older prophets, are yet current in Syria among Mohammedans and Hebrews, some having come down from the remote past with little or no change. The lecturer gave a delightful description of the every-day life of the people of Jerusalem, the episodes of school life, courtship, marriage and home life, with the stately and deliberate politeness of these Orientals. Mr. Von Finkelstein is the son of a Russian who, as a dissenter from the Greek Church, who, as a dissenter from the Greek Church, was forced to fly from Russia, and found sanctuary in the Holy City. He is now a resident of this country and a Presbyterian, being a member of Dr. John Hall's church, in New York city. He is not without a vein of humor, and when showing a Mohammedan ink horn, doubtless inspired by the fact that he was standing in the church of which the President of the United States is a member, remarked that in Palestine, as elsewhere the per was mightine, as elsewhere the per was mightine than the where, the pen was mightier than the sword, "as it was found to be in this country," he added with a sly twinkle, "by a certain British minister." This sally caused considerable laughter.

An admission fee of twenty-five cents was to have been charged at the door. the proceeds to go into the treasury of the State Sunday-school Union in aid of its work. But almost at the last moment discovery was made that the founders of the First Presbyterian Church had stipulated that no enter-tainment for which an admission fee was exacted should ever be held in that church. The entertainment was given to a large and well-pleased audience, and when the contribution baskets were passed at the close the harvest of silver was probably considerably larger than it would have been had the original programme been car-

CULLINGS FROM THE COURTS.

Two Incorrigible Girls Sent Where They Must Behave Themselves.

Judge Irvin spent nearly the entire day yesterday trying to reason with two trim, bright-faced, well-dressed girls, brought before him by their mothers, both widows. They were Melvina Moore and Hattie Harter, of Bradshaw street. Both were under fifteen years of age, but appeared two or three years older. Several months ago the girls began running away from home, and recently became so unruly that their mothers gave up trying to manage them. They would remain away from home a week at a time, and the company | for divorce. Allegation, failure to provide. they kept was not of the best. The father of the eldest girl, Hattie Harter, died about a year ago. He carried an insurance certificate in the Knights of Honor for $3,000, and when the money was paid over to the widow she placed it in bank. Having implicit confidence in the girl, she allowed her to draw on the emoney at her pleasure, and a few days ago it was discovered that she had checked out $1,500. When questioned about it she said she and her companion had spent $500, and that $1,000 had been loaned to a young man, without had been loaned to a young man, without any security. It was that discovery that brought the girls before the judge. Judge Irvin endeavored to learn from them the name of the young man, but the girls would not tell him. He tried to convince them that they ought to return home and behave themselves, but they refused to take his advice, and said they proposed to continue to do as they pleased. Satisfied that they would go to ruin if permitted to go free he sent them to the Reformatory. Under the new law they will have to remain in the institution until they are twenty-one years of age, unless permitted to go on tickets of good behavior. The girls seemed pleased with the sentence, and went out of the with the sentence, and went out of the court-room smiling. Claimes He Was Defrauded. In a suit against Scott Catterson for $350 damages, brought by John S. Williams, the latter, a dealer in hard-wood lumber at Albion, Tenn., charges that on Nov. 1, of last year, he received from the defendant a price-list of lumber in Indianapolis. With the list was a letter written on a letterhead, representing Catterson as a dealer in hard wood at No. 552 Bellefontaine street, this city. Relying upon the statement of defendant, Williams says that he shipped him a car-load of walnut lumber valued at $270. It is alleged that when Catterson received the lumber he sold it at an advance in price, and refused to pay for it. It is also charged that Catterson was not a lumber dealer; that the number on Bellefontaine street was a private residence, occupied by some of the defendant's relatives, and that he secured the lumber by fraud. The additional charge is made that Catterson has been practicing the fraud for some time.

Recalls the Pogue Deal. A jury in Judge Howe's room, Superior Court, is hearing the suit of Artemus Hadley against the Broad Ripple Natural-gas Company for $200, alleged to be due plaintiff for services as superintendent of construction for one month, and for a commission for selling stock to A. L. Pogue, of Richmond. The demand in all is for about $1,500. The company is fighting the suit for commission on the ground that the deal Held for Conspiracy. Spencer Byrn, Hugh T. Green, W. H. Byrom, Francis M. Walts and Henry Sutton, all of Crawford county, were brought here under arrest by a deputy United States marshal, on a grand jury capias. They gave bond to answer at court to a charge of conspiracy. A pensioner, to whom $2,500 was due from the government, died in the poor-house, and the defendants, it is alleged, conspired to get the money by filing false claims for amounts due them in taking care of the pensioner.

She Asks for Damages. Mrs. Maria Willoeby yesterday filed two suits for damages against the Citizens' Street-railroad Company, asking a total of $15,000. She alleges that about a year ago her son, Joseph, then thirteen years of age, got on an East Washington street car with the intention of paying his fare. As he was entering the car door the conductor pushed him off, and in falling he was injured and crippled for life. The first suit, for $10,000, is brought in the name of the boy.

Sullivan in Toronto. The attachment proceedings against the personal property of Mrs. John E. Sullivan was dismissed last evening, and she will now continue to ship the property to her husband, whom she expects to join in a few days. The dismissal of the suit was secured by John Johnson giving bond for $1,000. The property is being shipped to John E. Johnson, Toronto, Canada, which indicates that Sullivan is yet in that city.

Notes from the Dockets. Charles E. Syerup & Co. have attached $450 worth of oranges and lemons in the possession of Joseph Battagalio. Fredericka Hilker has qualified as administratrix of the estate of her husband, Henry Hilker, the St. Joe-street florist, who died a few weeks ago. Her bond is for $1,000

Rather a Heavy Loss. The County Commissioners so far this term have issued 147 liquor licenses. For the licenses the saloon-keepers have paid into the city treasury $14,700. If the ordinance putting in force the new law had been passed before the board met, the amount paid in would have been $36,750, making the loss to the city, so far, by the failure to pass the ordinance, $22,050. Quite a number of saloon-keepers have not yet secured their licenses, and it is estimated that the total loss to the city will not fall short of $25,000.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's soothing syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty five cents a bottle. five cents a bottle.
